

John Greene

Corporate Vice President and Chief Financial Officer
Northrop Grumman Corporation

John Greene is corporate vice president and chief financial officer for Northrop Grumman Corporation.

Greene is responsible for the company's business management and finance function and activities including the controller; treasury; pricing; financial strategy and planning; mergers and acquisitions; tax; internal audit; investor relations; trust administration and investments; and the business management organizations within the operating sectors of the company.

Prior to joining Northrop Grumman in 2026, Greene served as a finance executive across multiple complex, highly regulated industries. He was CFO for Discover Financial Services for six years, prior to its acquisition by Capital One. Greene also served as CFO for Bioverativ, a global pharmaceutical company, and Willis Group Holdings, and was CFO for multiple business units within HSBC Holdings. He began his career with Ernst & Young and also worked at General Electric for 12 years.

Greene earned a bachelor's degree in accounting from State University of New York and a master's of business administration from Northwestern University's Kellogg School of Management.

Northrop Grumman is a leading global aerospace and defense technology company. Our pioneering solutions equip our customers with the capabilities they need to connect and protect the world, and push the boundaries of human exploration across the universe. Driven by a shared purpose to solve our customers' toughest problems, our employees define possible every day.